A WEEK OF DELAY

Brings Many Disappointments to Wall Street.

THE UNSETTLED TARIFF QUESTION

Continues to Worry All Branches of Trade - Commercial Paper Is In Better Supply-The Damage to the Corn Crop Has a Serious Effect on the Market-The Low Condition of the Treasury is Said to Excite No Special Alarm.

Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

New York, August 4.—One more week of delays, difficulties and disap-pointments. This briefly summarizes the course of affairs since our last advices. The tariff continues to unsettle business; serious damage befelt our corn crop; gold went abroad at an unexpected rate, and the treasury reserve again touched the lowest point on re-None of these contingencies was anticipated a week ago. They came as additional burdens upon an already complicated and depressed condition of affairs; and yet the stock market stubbornly refused to reflect these conditions. This unusual resistance of values to unfavorable developments is one of the most atriking features of the situation, and not very easy of explanation. It is quite evident, however, that there is little, if any, artificial support; and it is equally apparent that the "bears" are unable to disledge any important amounts of stocks. The only plausible explanation is that a decided change of feeling has taken place, which thus far manifests itself, not in action but in patiently waiting for better stubbornly refused to reflect these conbut in patiently waiting for better things and resisting depressing influ-ences. Despair has given way to hope, and, if confidence has not been fully restored, fear has certainly almost compietely disappeared.

With such a change in sentiment it is only a question of conditions and judg-ment as to when sentiment stimulates action and action displays itself in gensotion and action displays test in general revival. Already the reviving tendencies are at work; and they need nothing but opportunity to assert themselves. The first and best opportunity will be the settlement of the tartinity will be the actifement or the cariff question, which now seems close at hand. It is pretty certain that the senate bill with shortly become a law, with a few aniunportant amendments. As soon as that is done commerce will revive, imports will rapidly increase, and idle industries will share in the general relief from suspense. Amongst our leading bankers there is already a much more honeful feeling than a few weeks ago; and in some lines of business trade has within the last two weeks experienced quite a revival; nothing extraordinary, but still recovery enough to indicate a turn in the tide. Commercial paper is in better supply, and lenders are much less critical as to collatoral than recently; all of which are favorable synaptoms. The conditions of trade in England, France and Gormany have improved materially during the last six months; and this fact, together with the better feeling over there which will follow the passage of our tariff bill, will do much to counteract the disfavor into which American securities have lately fallen.

As for the damage to our corn crop, that has unquestionably been serious; but it should be remembered that the loss will fall chiefly upon two or three of the contral Western States, which have sumple resources of other kinds; so that the injury will not be so severely folt as it the damage had been in purely agricultural states. Then, taking the reports at their worst, and they cortainly have been exaggerated, it etill seems probable that we shall have as large a crop as last year (1,000,000,000 bushels), so, without considering any possible improvement in the balance of the competition we are meeting with from other producers are discoursading; but this, too, has its offsets, for it will undoubtedly widen the consumptive uses of wheat, and has already forced a lower cost of production.

The low condition of the treasury reserve excites no alarm; because they are for the competition of the resoury is nother likely nor desirable; but the turn has set in,

Brailstrat's

The market holds firm at the advance asked a week ago, and considerable business has been done at the higher rates. Compared with two weeks ago, sales are making in a fair way at about 1c advance on grease wools. The recent large sales have reduced available offerings, and this tends to keep sellers firm. Territory wools continue to show most activity, present quentions for fine medium and time scenred of good ataple belong 38a15c, against 30a2 before the recent activity. The feeling is that if the tariff bill is passed prices will again fall off, while if the bill is killed the market will jump 10c to 15c on scenred wools. Dealers do not look for the latter event, however, notwithstanding the present deadlock, and are usually free sellers of those wools over which they have control. Foreign wools are quiet but steady.

CELEBRATED OIL CASE.

The Other Side of the Question in the Case of Williamson vs. Jones.

To the Editor of the Intelligence.

Sin:—In both the Register and INTEL-

MORNER of Saturday, August 4, quite a lengthy article seems to have been written by interested parties, in which an effort is made to belittle the Interests of the plaintiffs in the case of ests of the plaintiffs in the case of Williamson vs. J. T. Jones. The case before the United States court at Parkersburr on Friday was an application by David H. Stenley, who claimed a fractional interest in the property, for injunction and recolver. The circuit court of the United States held that as a fractional interest in the property, for injunction and receiver. The circuit court of the United States held that as the property had been in part taken possession of by the state court, and as the necessary parties could not be made parties to the sait in the United States court, it had no jurisdiction. It did not decide any question on the merits of the case untitioner. The merits had been substantially decided by the state court, in which it is held that the plaintiffs in the suit against Jones were cuited to seen tenths of the oil produced from the Jones farm. It has produced over six hundred thousand barrels of qil, and the effort of the plaintiffs is to compel Jones to account for and pay over seven-tenths of that produced from the Jones stated that division of the oil, by declaring that Jones was only entitled to three-tenths, and the plaintiffs to seven-tenths, and the plaintiffs to seven-tenths, and the plaintiffs to seven-tenths, and the side of the plaintiffs. In this particular case before Judges Goff and Jackson, Stealey, a resident of Illinois, desiring to got into the United States court, filed his bill for his fractional interest alone. It will not swall anything for Capitan Jones or his friends to endeavor to try this case in the Thewspapers. The plaintiffs are content with the decision, so far as it has gone, as to the merits of the case on the questions involved. On the final hearing, they have no doubt of the result of compelling Jones, who has no title whatever to seven-tenths of the city of the day of judgment as long as he can, but there will be an end of it soon, and that to his disconfilture. The circuit court at Parkersburg did not decide a single question involving the morits of the controversy. It simply dismissed Stealey's application without prejudice to his remedy in the state courts. Jones' alleged "victory" is such as ny defondant who has a fearful looking forward to judgment secures by dilatory tactics.
